Biography

Ms. Price has been managing complex projects since 1990. Working on an independent basis since 1994, she has completed projects for a variety of clients including AIDS Action, Annapolis and Anne Arundel County Chamber of Commerce, Annapolis and Anne Arundel County Public Schools, Birch & Davis Associates, Calvert County Public Schools, COSMOS Corporation, Knapp and Associates International, Inc., National Retail Federation Foundation, ORC/Macro International, and for US government offices such as the USDHHS Center for Substance Abuse Prevention, Department of Justice, and the Department of Labor, and the National Cancer Institute. Areas of expertise include public health, education, and training and technical assistance systems. Her primary focus is on implementation: extracting best practices from projects, identifying factors for success, creating key steps for replication, looking at the unintended effects of change, measuring success and completing projects on schedule. She received a BA from the University of Massachusetts in Anthropology with a minor in Women's Studies, and an Ed.M. from Harvard University Graduate School of Education in Program Implementation.
